PRICE TWO CENTS.

PASSENGER RATES TO BE INCREASED

Boston & Maine Takes This Means of Getting Money for Increase in Wages.

Passenger rates on the Boston & Maine railroad are to be increased. The change, according to a statement made Saturday by President Tuttle, probably will not go into effect until July 1. They are being at present worked out and will then be submitted to the interstate commerce commission.

Suburban commutation in the vicinity of Boston will not be affected but other rates will probably be advanced to the point at which they stood previous to Feb. 1, 1907.

"We have not yet completed our plans for the change," said President Tuttle Saturday. It takes at least 30 days to put such a matter before the interstate commerce commission and and secure its approval, but we probably shall go back to the rates which were in effect previous to Feb. 1, 1907. There will be a very slight change, of any, in suburban rates.

"The dear public that applauds raises in wages and is constantly dwelling upon the high cost of living as a reason for giving higher wages has got to pay for the additional money given the men. The company has got to raise the money somehow. The increase in wages which we have agreed to make will cost the company at least $1,000,000, if not $2,000,000. The only way we can see to secure this additional sum is through putting the passenger rates back to where they were before the last reduction."

The reduction published in February, 1907, amounting on the average to 10 per cent, which meant that a $2.25 tariff was then cut to $2 and a $2.50 charge to $2.25 or thereabouts. The company's situation is similar to that which necessitated the recent increase on the part of the New Haven road.

Twelve Cents More to Portsmouth
Passengers going from Boston to Bangor, Me., will have to pay fifty-seven cents more fare. Those who go to Portland will find it costs twenty-three cents more; to Fitchburg the increase will be ten cents; to Lowell six cents; and to Portsmouth, N. H., twelve cents. Here is how the new fares to and from Boston will probably reach New England pockets:

Station	Fare New rate Inc/Dec
Bangor, Me.	$5.70 $6.27 57c

Concord	.37 .41 4c

The eleventh consecutive day of fog, rain and easterly wind brings no sign of a change, and people are wondering if they have ever experienced such a period of disagreeable weather. However, it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and crops and foliage have thriven finely under the long continued dampness.

The first step toward the establishment of our long wished for electric lights has been taken in the arrival of a consignment of poles. May other steps follow in quick succession.

Miss Mae Meloon of Auburnhale, Mass., passed Sunday with her father, W. G. Meloon of Newmarket street. She had as her guests Miss Clara de Wolfe and Miss Emily Butterworth, her classmates at Lasell seminary, and Miss Alice Coes of Kittery Point. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prince Lord of Boston, who have occupied the Vaughan cottage on Breezy Point for several seasons past, will be at Weymouth, Mass., the coming summer.

The hugeness of the mammoth collier Vulcan daily becomes more apparent as she rises higher and higher from the water with the gradual removal of her immense cargo of coal at the navy yard.

Though its force has spent itself before reaching here, some furious gale far offshore has for the past week sent a thundering surf booming along this coast and tales of encounters with it are at hand. The disabled steam lighter Leviathan, which left here Friday for Portland in tow of the tug Portland, narrowly escaped foundering on her way down. Soon after leaving this harbor, and near the spot where the Portland herself sank last winter, the Leviathan's square bow began to shovel the seas aboard at such an alarming rate that distress signals were blown and the tug headed for York with alacrity. Later it was found that at slow speed the lighter rode more easily, so the course was resumed. The five men aboard, however, regretted the later decision, and many times thought that the steamer's heavy cargo of crushed stone would carry her to the bottom. As it was, there were four feet of water in her hold when she reached Portland. The tug M. Mitchell Davis, which left here at about the same time with the coal bar No. 20 for Portland, also had a Beginning May 1, the big milk contractors at Boston, Lynn, and other cities, will come up with the winter price of milk to farmers in this section, or they won't get the products. This was the unanimous vote of the over fifty farmers from Berlimouth, Rye, Greenland, Stratham, Newington and Kittery who gathered at Greenland town hall on Saturday afternoon to take this action.

They voted to sustain the directors of the Boston Cooperative Milk Producers' Company and, unless the middleman gives way to the farmers, there will be trouble. One of the officers of this branch of the Producers' association, in talking over the situation with a Herald reporter, stated that they are not raising the price of milk but simply ask that the contractors who have raised the price themselves pay the farmers the same price in summer as in winter, that is 36-1-2 cents for eight quart cans, on a claim that they cannot get any money out of it in selling less to the big firms.

It Doesn't Hit the Public

"You can say," said he, "that we have no intention of raising the price to the public and they will have milk for the same money as before." "What if the contractors refuse your demands?" "We will withhold the milk from them." "But what will you do with it?" "We have everything planned relative to that matter and it is our intention to market the milk ourselves. We can find independent dealers who will handle our products; besides we will make a lot of it into butter and cheese."

Ready for the Struggle

It is understood that the producers association will make a strong fight in this move which they have instituted and, if the contractors decline to submit to the advance, they will have representatives in the large cities who will look up a market and handle the transportation.

The Herald man was informed that the products sent from this city and surrounding towns furnish nine tenths of the milk sold in Boston and Lynn markets.

Will Meet Wednesday at Boston

Worcester, Mass., April 25.—W. A. Hunter, secretary of the Boston Milk Producers' company, the farmers' organization that is demanding that the Boston contractors pay the producers the present winter rates throughout the summer, supporting its demands by threats of a "strike" May 1, Sunday night said that the directors of the company will meet in a Boston hotel Wednesday to perfect plans for the struggle. That they believe is impending. Reports will be received from the district leaders who have been organizing the producers all over New England.

Meetings are being held daily in nearly all parts of New England to consider the situation.

MARINE JUMPS THE SHIP

Skipped from Alice Howard at the Dock

A detachment of marines arrived from Panama today and were transferred to the navy yard by the Atlantic Shore Line ferry. Everyboard was aboard on the 10:55 trip and the boat was just pushing away from the dock when one of the guard leaped from the deck to the float, leaving gun, and all his marching rig on the steamer. He took it on the hot foot up the brow over the dock and into Penhallow street. Word was sent to the police and later the officers gathered him in on Court street. His suspicious movements attracted the attention of the police and he had several stories to tell as to who he was and where he came from, denying that he had skipped from the company that crossed the river on the Alice Howard.

Some of his comrades say he must have had a thirst while others think his intention was to beat it.

NEW CASTLE WANTS THAT NEW ROAD

New Castle, April 25.—At the special town meeting on Saturday the selectmen were directed to employ counsel to see what can be done about securing the land which the town wants from the Wendell estate for a new road. This action was preceded by a lengthy discussion.

"DAKOTA DAN" HAS APPEALED

Cambridge, Mass., April 25.—"Dakota Dan Russell's" formal appeal which will carry his suit for home and heritage of Daniel Blake Russell to the state supreme court, was filed today with the registrar of probate of Middlesex county.

The paper includes a separate appeal for a hearing on each of the four original petitions brought by "Daniel Blake Russell of Medora, N. D." and denied by Judge Lawton. A jury trial is asked.

"Dakota Dan's" attorney is said to be depending in the second trial upon newly found evidence, discovered by himself during a trip to New York state. It will be used in an attempt to disprove the claim that "Dakota Dan" is James D. Ruseau.

BEGGAR WORE NAVY UNIFORM

New York, April 25.—A man attired as a naval petty officer, riding in a northbound subway express, appealed to other passengers, saying he had been robbed and had not enough money to get back to the Boston navy yard, where he had to report for duty in the battleship Maine. Failure to report he declared, would mean his court martial and dismissal. One of the passengers started to pass the hat, when a broad shouldered young man, who gave his name as George Millard, denounced the man as an impostor.

"I am a petty officer in the Mare Island navy yard myself, home on furlough. The Maine is not in Boston now." The alms seeker admitted he was a professional beggar and Millard started to give him a beating but passengers interfered just as the train arrived at Grand Central station and the beggar broke away and fled from the car.

NO RECORD OF DIVORCE

Derry, April 25.—Whether Mary C. Pillsbury of this town was or was not divorced from Charles Perkins Morrison in Pittsburg, Pa., thirty years ago, seems just now to be an open question. Mrs. Morrison had always supposed she was, but a few days ago her attorney, Leonard H. Pillsbury, wrote to Pittsburg for a copy of the decree and received in return the startling reply that no such decree was on record, that no such court as that in which the decree was supposed to have been granted ever existed in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania and that there never was a Judge R. F. Stowe, who is supposed to have granted the divorce in the county.

Attorney Pillsbury, however, refuses to be convinced that his client is the victim of a fake divorce, and has forwarded to Pittsburg what he considers absolute proof of the authenticity of her divorce decree.

AFTER ANOTHER FARO WORKER

Boston, April 25.—Secret service men and United States marshals are bending every effort to locate Frank Henderson of New York, an intimate acquaintance of "Big Bill" Kellher, George W. Coleman, other faro bank swindlers and the women who figure in the Cambridge bank looting case. The federal grand jury will be in special session tomorrow. The developments in the case are due to revelations made by the women.

Henderson's present whereabouts are unknown, but it is believed that he will try to communicate with Miss Laura Atwood or Arnold, the young woman whose evidence warranted the arrest of "Big Bill" Kellher.

Meanwhile "Big Bill" Kellher is still in the Charles street jail today, while Daniel Conkley, his lawyer, is endeavoring to obtain security sufficient to cover the $25,000 bail bond demanded by United States District Attorney French.

Was Satisfactory to all

New Castle, April 25.

The eccentricity of the weather still continues to cause general remarks. To those in perfect optimistic plumb are attune to: It isn't raining rain to me; it's raining daffodils; A health unto the happy; A fig for those who fret; It isn't raining rain to me, it's raining violets.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazen C. Randall, who have been the guests of the former's parents, have returned to their home in Hampton.

Misses Ruth and Myra Neal, who have been visiting Mr. Orin Caswell and family, have returned to their home in Boston.

Mr. Bert White of Haverhill is visiting relatives.

Mrs. Carolyn Pridham is restricted to her home by acute indigestion. Ex-Major Marvin of Portsmouth passed Sunday with his parents.

Merton Davidson is able to be out after his long illness, to the delight of his many friends.

Conrad Puah is the happy possessor of a bed of husky tulips, the tricolors of red, yellow and pink blending with the emerald carpet with beautiful effect.

It is very disarming to be assured that Charles Prohaska is to serve in the capacity of ice man this season.

The result of the town meeting on Saturday evening, was entirely gratifying to all. Figuratively illustrating the slang of the street, of knowing where they get off, relative to trying to rub the fur of the Wendell estate the wrong way.

Primrose, one of the kings of black face entertainers with his forty all star minstrels, with George Wilson as an extra feature, will hold the attention of a large attendance at Music Hall this evening. It will be a fast moving bill that will be brimful of novelties of minstrelsy with gorgeous scenic effects, and whirl wind dances, with a novel finale. Undoubtedly a large number from the island town will be in attendance.

One of the phenomenal recoveries that you read about, but seldom see, has been personified by Erben Hutchins at the Cottage hospital, to the unmistakable and welcome relief which this community was glad indeed to share. Here's hoping that the course of this improvement in his health, will rapidly continue and that no insidious setback may be experienced in his physical condition.

SHE RAISES CHICKENS

Edith Decker, the Prima Donna with James T. Powers

Edith Decker, the prima donna with James T. Powers in "Havana," one of the early attractions to play in this city under the direction of the Messrs. Shubert, is the proud possessor of a chicken ranch on Long Island.

During the two seasons "Havana" was at the Casino Miss Decker spent her time on a little place she had bought on Long Island and incidentally became interested in the chicken raising business. So fascinating did she find her vocation that she says she might even give up her stage career to follow it. There is money in hens, by heck!

She will be at Music Hall with Powers in "Havana" on Friday.

THE CANNON
COMMITTEESNot Likely to be Disturbed by the Act of Mr. Fowler

Washington, April 25—The opinion is widely held among members of the House that Representative Fowler, author of the resolution to create a committee on committees, shot his bolt last Thursday and that his effort will die a-borning.

The resolution is now snugly reposing in the committee on rules, where it will probably sleep the sleep of the just for the remainder of the season. It was said by parliamentarians that the resolution has no privileged character, and that Mr. Fowler cannot pry it out of committee without a majority vote in committee.

Mr. Fowler's move was a kind of hair-trigger proposition without any oness assurance of co-operation. So fellow-insurgents were surprised. So were the democrats, and also pained.

The fact is, the democrats are not quite ready to put across a resolution embodying the principles of the Fowler resolution. To do so would deprive them of valuable campaign issues in the coming elections.

With Senator Aldrich retiring from public life, the Speaker already shorn of his power in the committee on rules, and the last vestige of authority proposed to be taken from him by a committee on committees, democrats ask where would be their favorite outcry against Cannonism and Aldrichism?

Moreover, with possibility of a democratic House in the next Congress overspreading the political horizon like a blessed rainbow, of promise, this revolution in House procedure might come back to posterity.

So, taken by and large, Mr. Fowler's move did not appeal to either the democrats or the insurgents as particularly auspicious.

The Fowler plan is declared to be unworkable and impracticable by some members of the House who have analyzed it. It divides the country into seven zones, from which members of the proposed committee of committees are to be selected. It is said that in two of the zones there are few democrats, in two others few republicans, and that, in fact, equal representation between the two parties could be found in only two out of the seven zones.

E. H. R. Green, Whose Millions
Make Him Afraid to Marry

E. H. R. Green of Texas and New York, son of Hetty Green, has no objection to getting married if he can only find the woman who would be willing to take him for better or worse. But—and here comes the trouble—the woman must not know that Mr. Green, or Colonel Green, as he is called in Texas, has millions of dollars at his command. Love is all right, and so is marriage, says Mr. Green, but the rub comes that he would not be sure that a woman would marry him for his money or for himself. Being worried over this problem, Mr. Green has remained a bachelor, and he fears he will die a bachelor unless— But, then, he does not care to discuss that point. "Just give my address as New York and Texas," he said, "I may not be bothered so much with folks of the gentler sex who are sure they could love me because I am Green."

Milk Producers Vote to Stand Out for a Good Price

Exeter, April 25.—The school meeting which was adjourned from March 24 will be held this evening, when the citizens will assemble to take action on the report of the committee which was at that time chosen to make a report in regard to a new building. About a week ago the committee reported that they thought it possible for the amount of $25,000 to erect a new building with all the modern conveniences, a two story structure with colonial roof and capable of accommodating 250 pupils. It was the suggestion of the committee to appoint a committee for building and restrict them to the above amount. At the time of the report there was no site mentioned for the building, but later reports state that "as to the location of the new building several interviews have been had with the representatives of the Phillips academy, and the trustees have made the following offer: That the academy convey to the district the old campus, reserving for a period of five years the rear portion, and pay the district $1500, the district to convey to the academy the Spring street lot in the rear of the library, with such right of way from Front street and Spring street as may exist, but reserving a strip from the end of the present library building to a point on a line with the rear end of the Baptist church, and the use of the school lot until accommodations for the pupils can be provided elsewhere, and also reserving the school fixtures, desks, etc., and with a restriction against the academy building within twenty feet of the land reserved. This proposition seems to look good to the committee, and they deem it the best solution yet offered for a location. It is the idea of the committee to place the building about 100 feet from Linden street, thus making a level and ample school yard, and the rest of the campus would be available for a much needed play ground. This is, in substance, the report which the committee will present to the public. If the report does not meet with approval the district has right to locate it by direct vote or by a committee chosen for the purpose, which would naturally be the same committee charged with the erecting of the building.

The Exeter jail is now free from prisoners, not a solitary respondent being incarcerated there. The last one was freed Friday morning by the suspended sentence rendered by Judge Pike. It is not often that such a state exists, as there is usually a few prisoners boarding with the keeper, but now Beverly S. McGaughey, the keeper, is conducting the place all by himself.

Theatrical Topics

Primrose Mammoth Minstrels. The "First Part" setting of the Primrose Minstrels is said to be a perfect gem in its way; white and gold is pretty combination used towards an effect of genuine grandeur. The whole scheme utilized is one of massive scenic conception, and carries with it a fairly good idea of some of the ancient Roman palaces.

This magnificent background is furthermore enhanced in effectiveness by the rich draperies and other picturesque furnishings that have been generously provided by Mr. Primrose, who prides himself on giving the proper atmosphere to his entertainment of so much novelty. The Primroses how promises more than a little in the way of exceptionally fine singing at Music Hall tonight, not forgetting the clever performances by the famous Ward Bros., who have arranged a special act of astonishing, as well as laughing importance. A special added attraction for the one-half the years of Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin." That this famous classic of the American stage retains its popularity may be explained in two ways. Firstly it is the stage version of a book which did much to hasten the freeing of the negro slaves and secondly, the public long ago learned that Manager Washburn gives, not only a scenically correct stage picture of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's renowned story, but with each return visit of the Stetson show he presents all that is newest and best in high class vaudeville.

This season, several entirely new features are promised, including the most gorgeous and beautiful electrical, scenic and mechanical effects ever devised by man.

GEORGE H. PRIMROSE.

engagements of the large New England cities is George Wilson of the famous Barlow, Wilson, Primrose and West. This is the first time that Primrose and Wilson have appeared together in nearly twenty years. Those two great artists need no introduction to theatregoers from ocean to ocean and from the great lakes to the gulf of Mexico. Now won't it look good to you to see George Wilson on one "End" and George Primrose on the other? It should pack the theatre from "pit to dome."

Uncle Tom's Cabin

Whenever you think of it, ask your oldest relative to name the first play he or she ever attended.

It is safe to wager the answer will be, Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a play that has survived all others and today gives every promise of lasting through all time to come.

Hundreds of new productions are offered during each succeeding theatrical season at an aggregate expense of thousands of dollars. The majority of these prove rank failures, some survive for a year or two, while a limited few are successes. The latter endure for a few years, with gradually diminishing power to attract the public. Then comes the time, when they are withdrawn from the stage, for to continue them would mean a losing venture. There is yet to be written a play that will attain to that theatre famous for such triumphs, the New York Casino. This play is called "Havana" and in it James T. Powers disports himself to the intense amusement of all who see him. There is no comedian on our stage today more apt in creating laughter than James T. Powers and he obtains his laughter through absolutely legitimate methods. In "Havana" there is no single word or action at which the most precise could take exception. Produced by the Shuberts at the time when certain managers were being scored for the nature of their musical comedy offerings "Havana" was praised for the absence of those things for which other managers were being condemned. That "Havana" has merit it is evident from the fact that it ran two seasons at the Casino and played to big houses through the entire engagement. With Mr. Powers comes the original company seen during the run on Broadway.

At Music Hall, Friday evening, Apr. 29.

Footlight Flash

There are 1853 aspirants for the $250 prize offered by Martin Beck for the best one-act play contributed to the Actors' fund fair. It was the largest playlet contest ever held. Six plays from among all these will be selected for presentation at the fair, an hour.

and five of the best known critics in New York will select the winner. A play was submitted on almost every conceivable subject from the contemplated visit of the stork to the reappearance of Caesar's ghost. Over one-third of the plays concerned the domestic triangle. Less than 100 were free from the element of love and nearly half ended with a kiss. Fully a score of the authors demanded their acts be produced by certain stars and asked that their manuscripts be returned if any person of lesser light was to be selected. Nine Harvard men contributed plays, one of them being written by a Japanese student. There were three plays in Yiddish and one in Italian. About 600 plays were contributed by New Yorkers. California seemed to have the fever worse than any other state save Massachusetts, having a total of 64.

The revival of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" has been accomplished at His Majesty's in London with great success but, if the critics are to be believed, the fun was just a little too uproarious, even for so farcical a piece. Ellen Terry, as Mistress Page, appears to have lost neither charm nor humor. This delightful actress is to visit the United States again before long. She is to talk about Shakespeare's heroines, and doubtless will attract crowds of listeners. There are hints, but vague as yet, that she may also be seen upon the regular stage here.

Will Archie, the smallest comedian and legitimate actor in the American stage, is back in town again. He has signed up to appear in Mr. Lew Field's new production, of "Summer Widowers" to open at the Broadway Theatre the middle of May. He has the leading comedy part, that of a small boy of by no means angelic temperament. The part will be particularly fitted to his line of comedy work, especially a small boy, as he is alone in that class, being but a little over four feet high and weighing less than a hundred pounds. We will remember him as "Bud," the stable-boy in "Wildfire," starring with Miss Lillian Russell. He made a tremendous hit not only in Boston but in every city in the country where he has shown. Will Archie is well named the "King of Comedians." Mr. Archie is also a remarkable tennis player and a baseball "fan," his enthusiasm for excellent his size, his only disadvantage being his diminutive structure; therefore, we shall see him in the "Archie Box" at the Polo Grounds.

NEW FIRE HORSES ARE PURCHASED

The committee on fire department have purchased a pair of horses for the book and ladder from James Harvey of Boyd road. The new pair are a big rangy pair of blacks, between five and six years old and weigh about 3500 pounds. The committee have been looking around for some time, but no where have they struck a pair like those owned by Mr. Harvey, as the horses in addition to being the right size, are well mated, are clever and should make apt pupils for the central station.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLOSION

Boston, April 25.—With his train, a fast freight, running at thirty miles an hour over a clear track between the Norwood station and High bridge, Norwood, on the New York, New Haven and Hartford road, just before seven o'clock last night, Louis Koldenburg of Needham, the engineer, was blown from his cab some distance to the side of the track. His injuries resulted in his death.

So great was the force of the explosion that the fireman who was beside Koldenburg at the time was driven back across the tender to escape injury or possible death and the train without any one at the throttle tore along the rails for over half a mile. The fireman was painfully scalded but realizing his duty, as soon as the steam cleared away clambered back to his place in the cab and brought the engine to a halt.

The accident occurred on the Midland division of the road, and officials said last night that an investigation would be held to place the blame, if any should be shown, for the defective condition of the engine.

Owing to the stopping of the freight and the attending of the injured, the line was tied up for nearly an hour.

AMERICAN SCIENTIST IS DECORATED

Washington, Apr. 25.—Prof. J. Howard Gore, one of the prominent scientists of Washington, and his wife, Lillian Gore, have just been decorated by King Charles of Roumania in recognition of services given that European country several years ago.

Prof. Gore has received the order of the Crown of Roumania, grade of grand officer, and Mrs. Gore the order of meritorious service, first class. The decorations, elaborately executed gold and silver medals, bearing the crown of Roumania and Roumanian inscriptions, were transmitted through the State Department.

Prof. Gore was decorated for having introduced into Roumania a variety of American corn, now one of the thriving crops of that country, and Mrs. Gore for having spent several weeks in Bukharest giving public demonstrations of how to prepare the corn meal so as to avoid the dangers of pellagra, which in that country, is a prevalent disease, ascribed to the consumption of musty corn.

The decorations came as a complete surprise to Prof. and Mrs. Gore. The services had been given several years ago and had already been rewarded with the official recognition in the form of certificates.

During the Paris exposition in 1900 a member of the Roumanian ministry of agriculture, became particularly interested in an exhibit of American corn, and thought it might be grown to advantage in his own country. Some time later he wrote to Prof. Gore, asking him for advice on the subject.

After much correspondence and inquiries at the Department of Agriculture, Prof. Gore selected a variety of corn which he thought suited the soil and climate of Roumania. He sent many bushels of the seed corn, and several barrels of the corn meal to illustrate how it is ground, to the Roumanian minister of agriculture.

The corn proved to be especially suited to the Roumanian soil and large crops of it were grown. The people, however, did not seem to understand how to prepare the corn meal, and the government in 1903 asked Mrs. Gore, who was in Europe with her husband, to give some demonstrations of receipts for the preparation of corn meal.

Mrs. Gore went to Bukharest and for two weeks devoted her time to demonstrations of the proper preparation of the corn meal for domestic use, and to avoid all danger of musty corn, producing pellagra.

The present decoration is the fourteenth that Prof. Gore has received. Among the others are the Legion of Honor of France, and the Order of the White Elephant of Sweden, but have been granted by two European governments.

WORK AT THE WENTWORTH

Manager H. W. Priest of the Hotel Wentworth has arrived for the summer and he has already a large force of men at work getting the big hotel in readiness for the season, which promises to be one of the best in the history of this famous hotel.

The entire upper floor of the annex, originally fitted up as a dining room with kitchen, etc., adjoining, is being torn out and will be finished up into sleeping rooms with baths. This was originally intended to be used during the month of September and October when the hotel would remain open, closing the main house, but other than a few banquets it was never used to any extent.

Manager Priest has a large force of painters at work, as the entire inside of the house is being painted and considerable work done about the grounds. At the golf course, the men are at work, and already the greens made last fall are coming along in fine shape.

The advance booking for the summer is the greatest for years, and it is anticipated that it will be one of the best seasons for many years. The automobile traffic is expected to be heavier than usual and Manager Priest is leaving nothing undone that will enable him to handle a big business, both at the hotel and garage.

QUEER THEFT AT MANCHESTER

Concord, April 25.—Negotiable securities to the value of more than $6000, which were stolen eight days before from the office of Miss Grace E. Blanchard, the city librarian, were returned to her in a mysterious manner Saturday night.

The bonds were mailed at the Boston and Maine depot at eight o'clock in a plain white envelope which bore a special delivery stamp. Miss Blanchard received the package very soon afterward, but there was nothing with the papers to indicate the identity of the thief, and the police have no clue. City money amounting to $18 stolen at the same time, was not returned.

Sufferers who use it are amazed at the rapidity of the relief which follows its use. The skin heals in an astonishingly short time, and all traces of the disease are eradicated. The name of this new remedy is Cadum, and it is sold by all druggists for 10c and 25c a box. It is also remarkably effective when used for acne, herpes, pimples, blackheads, psoriasis, itching piles, tetter, salt rheum, and skin diseases generally. KANGAROO TO LEAVE THE BATTLESHIP WISCONSIN

The Famous Mascot Will be Missing When the Ship Gets Here

The New York Times publishes the following about a pet animal well known in this vicinity:

The battleship Wisconsin, on board of which "Murphy" lives, and whose sailors have made themselves famous as the publishers of The Badger, steamed into the Hudson Friday afternoon for what will in all probability be her last visit to New York. Not quite ten years ago the Wisconsin was launched in San Francisco—an event which lives in the navy as the last launching ever witnessed by President McKinley. It was only a few weeks later that he fell a victim to the bullet of the assassin Czolgosz in Buffalo.

When the Wisconsin leaves New York this week she will go into retirement from active service in the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H. Her passing was pointed out by navy officers as a striking example of how short is the life of a modern battleship. While many of the Wisconsin's crew regret that they must leave her, their chief concern, for a while, at least, was the fate of "Murphy."

"Murphy" is almost as well known as half the admirals in the navy, and is better known than a great many officers of lesser rank. He is the most famous mascot in the American service afloat, and he isn't a goat or a gamecock, either. "Murphy" is a kangaroo, and he came to the Wisconsin on the voyage around the world, being a gift to the officers and men on the ship of the city authorities of Albany, Australia. He has been on the Wisconsin ever since, and the bluejackets who have educated him declare that a smarter kangaroo never hopped, skipped, or jumped than "Murphy," and they have plenty of evidence to prove it.

Some months ago, when the navy department let it become known that the Wisconsin was to be retired from the Atlantic fleet to make room for one of the greatest all big gun battleships, Bo'sun Webb, who as the chairman of the committee of "Murphy's" person, called a meeting of the committee to decide what should be done with "Murphy" when the Wisconsin went out of commission. All kinds of suggestions were made, but none of them was received with favor.

"Bill" Foster, one of the bluejackets on the committee, thought the Bronx Park might be a good home for "Murphy," while "Alex" Wisdom had the nerve to propose giving him to the men of the flagship Connecticut. The first suggestion was promptly voted down. Wisdom's suggestion was not even considered.

"I would rather vote to send 'Murphy' back to Albany than to give him to a ship already in the fleet," said Arthur Jones of the steward's department.

So that particular committee meeting bore no results as far as "Murphy's" future was concerned, and neither did any of the other meetings that were held in the weeks that followed.

A few weeks ago there came to the Wisconsin another order from the navy department which answered the question "What is to be done with Murphy?" All the long term men, who number between 300 and 400, were ordered to get ready to leave the Wisconsin to serve out the rest of their time on the battleship Delaware, one of the new Dreadnoughts that went into commission last week. Bo'sun Webb is among the number who go to the Delaware.

When he read the order transferring the old timers to the big ship named after the smallest of the states Webb issued a hurry call for a meeting of the committee of "Murphy's" person.

"Brothers," said Webb, solemnly, "the great problem is solved and the future of our beloved 'Murphy' is now secure. Three hundred of us are going to the Delaware and we will take Murphy with us and the honor of being the first mascot of an American all big gunner will be 'Murphy's'."

So it was that the committee unanimously voted the Delaware as the future home of "Murphy." Until next Wednesday "Murphy" will remain on board the Wisconsin. On that day the Wisconsin sails for Portsmouth, and "Murphy" will start for Philadelphia. Webb and Jones will go with him in a baggage car, and on their arrival will escort him to the Delaware, which is now undergoing a few finishing touches in the League Island navy yard there.

Tuesday night "Murphy" will give his farewell reception on board the Wisconsin, and the affair will be attended by all the bluejackets in New York at that time. Many officers are also expected to be present. "Murphy" will box with Webb and will wrestle with Jones, and will also do something in fancy skipping and jumping line, as well as other feats which the bluejackets contend that he alone, of all animals in captivity, can do.

On the way to New York from New Orleans "Murphy" was on the sick list for five days. The day the battleship left New Orleans the mascot was playing on the gun deck when in trying to make an unusually long leap he miscalculated and fell through a hatch into the ward room of the junior officers. He landed on his back and for several days could hardly walk. He had completely recovered when the Wisconsin steamed past the Hook on Friday morning.

"The Badger," to which reference has been made, was one of the first monthly magazines started in the navy. Since the Wisconsin went into commission, some nine years ago, it has appeared every month and has been considered the best publication of the kind printed in the navy. With the going of the Wisconsin it ceases to exist.

FILIBUSTERERS WERE DETAINED

New Orleans, April 25.—The steamer Venus, to have sailed for Nicaragua Friday night to go to the relief of President Madriz, was detained by order of the United States authorities on a charge of intending to violate the neutrality laws.

The captain was brought before the United States commissioner and placed under $5000 bonds.

The Venus has been practically fitted up and equipped during the last two weeks as a man of war, much more powerful than any vessel in the Nicaraguan navy.

All doubt was removed last week when the consular representative of the revolutionists protested against the departure of the converted cruiser, claiming it was a violation of international law, and that the Venus was a privateer. She carries a terrible lot of guns and ammunition and several cannons.

Secretary Nagel, of the Department of commerce and labor has called upon the collector of the port of New Orleans for information regarding any action taken in the case of the steamer Venus, and any that may be contemplated.

The Secretary's activity followed a call paid him by an attorney representing the provisional Nicaraguan government at Bluefields.

$10,000 SHORT FROM OWLS FUNDS

Boston (April 25)—The members of the Massachusetts nest of the order of Owls, according to William J. Kline financial secretary, and Michael J. Coyle treasurer, have lost about $10,000 in some manner yet unaccounted for, and a movement is on foot to reorganize the society.

Attorney Herbert A. Kenny has been retained by Col. Roger P. Scannell to protect the interests of the members of the society in New England against what he alleges are the illegal methods of some of the chief officers of the Owls. Col. Scannell, who was interviewed about the matter, said that he intends to procure a charter in this state and two societies will be placed on a substantial basis.

W. O. Richardson of the Insurance department of this state, and Mr. Marshall of the attorney general's office, agree with the attorney general of Minnesota, New Jersey and New Mexico that the Owls have acted illegally so far as the insurance feature is concerned. Speaker Walker of the house, Senator Tuttle of Pittsfield and Representative O'Neill of East Boston are interested in the matter and are striving to settle the affairs of the order.

Col. Scannell has presented a draft of an act of reorganization to the legislature, which was drawn by Atty. Kenny and Representative O'Neill has introduced the measure to the house. Senator Tuttle has pledged his support of the bill.

The order is comparatively new in New England, but its membership is quite large. It is said that the books were neglected and that the finances were in bad shape. It is alleged that John W. Talbot of South Bend, Ind., the supreme president, agreed to meet a representative of the attorney general's office, as well as a member of the state police at a hotel last Wednesday, but this engagement was not kept, for, it is alleged, Talbot suddenly left the hotel.

Talbot Blames Sullivan.

Atty. Kenny met Supreme Pres. Talbot, who said that he was not responsible for the trouble. He alleged that Daniel H. Sullivan, the organizer, disobeyed his instructions and he said that he would discharge him from his position. Talbot, it is said, appealed to the Massachusetts nest to the loyal, as 41 nests have already succeeded. It is said that he condemned Organizer Sullivan, who, it is alleged, accepted a commission of $2 from each new member of the Massachusetts nest.

The insurance commissioner showed Col. Scannell that the order of Owls was not an incorporated body; that it had no charter and no right to issue charters. Col. Scannell told the members of the nest that men were admitted.

YOU SHOULD FEAR BOWEL POISON.

Bowel poison means blood tainted by foul secretions absorbed from the bowels.

Here are the symptoms:—
If your skin is disfigured by eruptions, rashes, pimples, blotches, sores or eczema; if you itch and burn and your skin is scaly and rough; if you feel tired and worn out, your nerves weak, constipated, cross and depressed; if your head feels heavy and aching, your eyes blue and specks float across your vision; if you have cold feet and your hands get very dry and sticky; if you have these danger signals they point unerringly to bowel poison, impure blood, and show that your stomach, liver and bowels are not working right.

Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills quickly drive the Bowel Poison out of your system, will regulate your bowels, purify your blood, and invigorate your whole body. They are a sure and unfailing cure for bowel poison in young or old. Physicians use and recommend. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

Newmarket Man Indignant Over a Sunday Occurrence

Newmarket, N. H., April 22, '10. To the Editor of the Portsmouth Herald.

Dear Sir:—The clipping enclosed was cut out of the Newmarket Advertiser.

I have made a few enquiries and find that there was no boat from Newmarket to Portsmouth on Sunday, April 17, 1910, except mine. Now I would like to know if your informant could not tell where the man came from or was he afraid to tell, and made the boat and Newmarket the bull. If you will look up the record of this boat for the two years that it has been running you will find there has not been any drunks or rowdies in this boat, and no parties to Portsmouth in it, but respectable people who have come and given your tradesmen a little business, and fishing parties who have come for recreation.

Hoping you will correct this statement, I am yours respectfully,

JOSEPH CARTER.

The item of which Mr. Carter complains, was printed in the Newmarket Advertiser, and credited to this paper, which previously published it. It is as follows: "The first of the five parties came down Sunday in the big power boat from Newmarket. One of the occupants got to the landing at the South End, fell off the stage and was up to his waist in mud when rescued."

The story of the occurrence is correct and the parties in question claimed to have come from Newmarket. They were only one of a large number of motor boating parties who were here that day.

TAFT TO VISIT INDIANA

Train Bearing President to Whisk Through

Washington, April 25.—President Taft is going west April 29 and he is coming back to Washington May 6. On that day a gay party at the White House will require his attention.

He is going to Indianapolis, but he is not going to speak. He will be whisked through there early in the morning of May 4, and he will be sleeping when it happens. Coming back, he will not touch Indianapolis.

There is some disappointment in this for the Old Guard, whose leader, told Mr. Taft on April 6 that he would have to go to Indianapolis and speak Senator Beveridge for turning down Mr. Taft and, and tariff bill. On receipt of the news from the Indiana platform, an engagement to speak in Indianapolis had been cancelled by President Taft. At the White House it was stated that a garden party was scheduled for May 6 and the president had forgotten it when he made the Indianapolis engagement. The president cut out Indianapolis and put in St. Louis.

Now the Old Guard must be content with President Taft's promise to go to Indianapolis real soon. He goes west in June to speak in Ohio and Michigan. It is expected that the Indianapolis speech will be sandwiched in about that time.

BOOMING FOLK FOR PRESIDENT

New York, April 23.—A boom for former Gov. Joseph W. Folk of Missouri for the presidency was started Friday night by members of the Missouri society at its annual dinner at the Waldorf and in the presence of presence of Mr. Folk himself, who was the chief speaker.

William Hepburn Russell started the Folk boom. He had been called upon specially to introduce Mr. Folk, having recently been elected president of the society.

"There is here tonight," said Mr. Russell, "an ex-governor of Missouri, not yet an ex-president of the United States. The hearts and the eyes of the young men of the country are turning toward him. With the hope that there are higher heights for him to climb and that there are great victories than ever for him to achieve, I introduce to you Joseph W. Folk."

The diners cheered warmly. There were only about 225 of them, but they made a lot of noise. In beginning his speech Mr. Folk first thanked Mr. Russell and continued:

"I would prefer to serve my fellow men; to serve the cause of humanity, than to hold public office."

PHOTOGRAPHING FISH

Chloroform Used With Excellent Results to Keep Them Quiet.

To the many strange uses that chloroform may be put Dr. Francis Ward of Ipswich, England, has added yet another. He chloroforms fish, not for surgical purposes, but in order that he may obtain lifelike photographs of them in their natural environment.

"The greatest difficulty I had to contend with in this fascinating hobby of photographing fish in their natural environment in tanks was the rapid and unexpected movements of the subjects," Dr. Ward explained. "The idea occurred to me that I could make the fish more tractable by means of chloroform. But how was I to administer the anesthetic? Eventually I decided upon the process of drawing the water slowly away from the tank while at the same time administering the chloroform through another tube."

"The experiment was profoundly interesting. At first the fish became extremely excited, darting madly from one side of the tank to the other. It appeared as though my effort was to be in vain, but before long lassitude overcame them and they rested lazily near the bottom of the tank. Thus I was able to make a protracted photograph exposure with excellent results."

"Continuing my experiments, I found that just before anesthesia is complete it is possible to make a photograph of fish in an aggressive attitude. Anesthetics are particularly useful in the photomicroscopy of fish larvae. Once they are removed from the chloroformed water the subjects rapidly recover."

MRS. MOSS' SHOPPING MANIA

Theatre Manager's Widow Bought Goods and Stored Them

New York, April 25.—That Mrs. Olivia A. Moss, widow of Theodore Moss, and after her husband's death manager of Wallack's Theatre, indulged in the feminine passion for shopping as few women have ever done, became known when the administrator of her estate placed on sale last week the accumulation of many years' shopping at the house occupied by Mrs. Moss for many years.

After her death it was found that the upper floors of the large house contained a stock sufficient for a small store. She had for years bought goods at the stores and stored them away.

It was impossible to place a value on the goods, but the accumulation represented an expenditure of many thousand dollars.

IMPORTANT NAVAL CHANGES

Washington, April 25.—Commander Henry B. Wilson has been selected by Rear Admiral R. F. Nickolson, chief of navigation, navy department, to be his chief assistant, and Lieut. Commander William K. Harrison to be detail officer.

Commander Wilson, now detail officer, will relieve Capt. R. T. Mulligan, the present assistant, when he leaves in May to take command of the new battleship North Dakota.

Lieutenant Commander Harrison of the battleship Minnesota will relieve Command Wilson.

FLEET MAY GO TO CHINA

Peking, April 25.—Minister Calhoun in a telegram to the American state department says there are grave fears that the trouble in Hunan Province is spreading. Vice consul Bangs at Hankow confirms the published report of the burning of the missions and custom house at Chansha, capital of the province, and he has urged Americans there to come to Hankow.

Minister Calhoun has requested Rear Admiral Hubbard, commanding the Asiatic fleet, now at Amoy, to have his fleet in readiness to render assistance if necessary.

AT NAVAL WAR COLLEGE

Newport, R. I., April 25.—The opening of the naval war college, it was learned here today, has been set for June 1. About 30 officers have been assigned for duty here. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, who was expected to make the opening address, will be unable to be present, and no other speaker has yet been named.

BETTER
CENSUS MAN

If not a resident of Koscusko county, Ind., $14 for refusing an audience to a census enumerator. The Koscusko county man took the position that his business was of interest to no one but himself and flatly refused to talk. A justice of the peace was called in and the obdurate man was shown that Uncle Sam means what he says. After leaving $14 as the price of his experience and obtaining his release under a suspended jail sentence, the information was forthcoming.

The enumerators are not compelled to qualify as pugilists and when the man in question gave ultimatum as to his intentions, the enumerator called Mr. Thomas by telephone and the law took a hand in the matter. Thomas at once left for Warsaw and through the process of the law the difficulty was straightened out in short order. Circulars sent out by the census bureau plainly state that any person failing to answer any questions asked by the enumerator in the course of his duties, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not exceeding $100.

A RARE COIN

The only specimen of the Confederate half dollar was recently exhibited at the New York Numismatic Club. For twenty-eight years it had been in a safe deposit vault in this city and the existence of this solitary coin of the Confederacy had been forgotten by the older collectors. Many of the newer generation were not aware that it was extant.

The design on the obverse is exactly like that of the United States half dollar of 1861, and as a matter of fact one of the regular obverse dies was used in making the coin. The reverse design is distinctly original and emblematic of the Confederacy.

In the center of the field is a shield of seven bars and seven stars. Above on a pole is a liberty cap. Surrounding the shield is a wreath composed of a branch of cotton plant and a stalk of sugar cane. Around the border is the inscription, "Confederate States of America Half Dol."

It is a curious fact that notwithstanding the millions of paper currency bearing the stamp of the Confederate government which flooded the south its entire metallic currency consisted of four silver half dollars. At various times the existence of a Confederate coin of the denomination of 5 or 10 cents has been reported but in every instance investigation has shown the price to be only a privately made medal eulogistic of the south or of one of its leaders.

The only coin that could pretend to be Confederate metallic money issue besides the half dollar was a cent piece that did not come to light until several years after the close of the war. The dies for this coin were made in Philadelphia engraver in the early part of the war, but never got beyond the experimental stage, and only few pieces were originally minted. The devices were emblematic of the south, but there is no official record showing that the Confederate authorities intended to issue such a cent or commissioned the engraver to prepare the dies, so until more definite information comes to light the so-called Confederate cent is included among the private or unofficial issues.

That the Confederate government contemplated a metallic coin issue and had advanced so far as to strike a number of half dollars did not come to general notice until many years, after the war.

POTATO GROWERS' ASSOCIATION

Durham, N. H., April 25.—Farmers week at the New Hampshire state college closed Saturday noon after a busy session that proved a gratifying success, not only to the college authorities, but to the large number of farmers and farmers' wives who attended. Many stayed for the half day devoted to a variety of lectures and demonstrations on topics of practical interest.

An important result of the week was the formation of a state organization known as the New Hampshire potato growers' association. The idea was informally discussed early in the week and the organization was completed on Friday afternoon, when officers were chosen and a constitution adopted. The new organization seems destined to have a far-reaching effect upon general potato culture in New Hampshire. The objects of the association, as given in its constitution is: "To advertise New Hampshire potatoes for seed and market; to facilitate the purchase of chemicals for spraying and fertilizers; arrange for

WILL PROBABLY REACH A MILLION

Washington, March 25.—A spectamen to present indications, immigration to the United States for the fiscal year 1910 promises to reach 1,000,000 people, if the record for the first nine months of the year is maintained.

The arrivals for March were 135,745 and for the nine months of the fiscal year, 667,049. It has been several years since the immigration figures reached the 1,000,000 mark, the last year being 1907, when 1,235,349 aliens were admitted to the United States. Of the immigrants who were admitted in March, 110,207 were male and 25,538 were female. Of these 3400 were German, 31,086 were from the south of Italy, 22,003 were Polish and 5506 were Greek.

For the first seven months of the fiscal year, that is from July last to January inclusive, 12,092 immigrants were debarked. Of these 269 were kept out because of insanity or feeble mentality in some form, 1,055 because they had a contagious or dangerous contagious disease, 7768 because they were liable to become a public charge, and 557 because a public charge, 859 because it was charged they were contract laborers.

The immigration bureau for the seven months returned to the country whence they came 422 persons because of insanity or other mental conditions.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL

Washington, April 25.—With the exception of the usual changes in some of the items, the senate has passed the river and harbor bill, practically as it left the house on the 14th of February last. The revolutionary character of the bill consists, first, in making it an annual bill which has been persistently urged by the national rivers and harbors congress; second, in giving the rivers of the great central west the consideration heretofore given only to harbors; and third, fixing a time limit when these river improvements shall be completed.

A long discussion of these features followed the bill's appearance in the senate committee on commerce, but finally resulted in its approval by only one dissenting vote, that of Senator Burton of Ohio. In its passage through the senate on Tuesday, the bill received all the votes. This was the more significant since Senator Burton attacked it vigorously in a speech covering two days. Other senators declare it the best river and harbor bill ever formulated by congress, and people east, west, north and south are entirely satisfied with it.

Of the new items added to the bill by the senate all except ten provide for improvements which had not been reported by the board of engineers in time for action by the house, otherwise the house committee would have included them. These items amount to about six millions. Of the items increased by the senate, amounting to about four millions, the Hudson and Ohio rivers make up fully one-half.

Representative Alexander, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, does not think the items added by the senate will provoke much discussion in conference, since ninety per cent. of them, he said, could be concurred in without hesitation. Of the ten or twelve questionable items several can be amended into shape. When the bill went to the senate every appropriation had behind it a favorable report by the board of engineers.

Since 1902 the law requires such a report, and although the action of one congress cannot bind a subsequent congress, the rivers and harbors committee has uniformly sustained the policy of requiring that a project be favorably reported by the engineers before an appropriation can be made for its improvement. The senate has not always been so careful, and among the items added to the present bill at least five fall wholly outside the rule. This does not necessarily mean trouble, however, for the conferees have power to receive from the engineers further reports upon the forbidden items, so that compromises along lines fully approved by the board of engineers are not unlikely in one or more cases. At all events, Chairman Alexander anticipates no trouble. He does not believe that the senate will allow a great bill, satisfactory to everybody and carrying fifty-two millions of dollars, to fall simply because the house, to sustain the law, must insist upon rejecting four or five items aggregating half a million of dollars.

SELLING ELECTRIC SERVICE

We sell more than Electricity. We sell electricity plus delivery and the two combined are covered in the term "electric service."

This service differs very much from the delivery department of a mercantile house or dairy. It is constant every one of the twenty-four hours and 365 days in the year. It is at your command instantly for the case of sudden sickness in the early hours of the morning as easily as it is for the operation of household appliances and motors for supplying power to factories.

It is a service that must be prepared at any and all times to be sufficient to the greatest simultaneous demand. Everyone appreciates the fact that many more electric lamps are in operation from 5 to 8 o'clock in the evening than during any other period of the day. It is also apparent that the darker and shorter the day, the heavier will be the consumption of electricity.

Our generating plant must be large enough to care for the maximum demand of the shortest and darkest day in the year and also to provide reserve at such time for possible accident or emergency at the plant to insure continuity of service. This means that during most of the time throughout the year three-fourths of our plant stands idle.

Cambridge Bank Looter
HE EXPECTED FIVE YEARS

Take Care of Two Women Friends
—One Feared That Prison Term
Might Be Longer and Coleman Could Not Redeem Promise, So She Concludes to Tell Authorities

Boston, April 25.—The Post says: If George W. Coleman, the self-confessed looter of the National City bank of Cambridge, does not with extreme haste "dig up" $100,000 or give some satisfactory evidence of where it is the federal officials will make him sweat for it.

To their surprise and humiliation after the young man had expressed complete contrition for his act they now find themselves confronted with this statement made by the bank looter:

"Nobody need worry about George Coleman. I have $100,000 planted safely away where no one can get it. I'll do my five years and come back and live like a gentleman. Five years at $20,000 looks soft to me."

This was Coleman's statement to Miss Mamie Hightower, his fiancée, and Miss Laura Atwood, her friend, and he added: "I'll take care of both you girls for the rest of your lives."

This evidence was given to the federal authorities and because Miss Atwood decided to be good and to tell what she knew she is occupying an expensive room at the Hotel Bellevue.

Miss Atwood has "blown down" her former champions and will be a witness for the government any time she is wanted. She fears that George Coleman will get too long a term at Atlanta to redeem his promise.

One morning nearly two years ago while the directors were in session the youthful bookkeeper walked into the room and in solemn tones said: "Gentlemen, I have a confession to make. I have stolen $2000 of the bank's money and spent it. I am sorry for it. But my father will make good the loss to you, and the bank will be made whole."

The directors stared at him in amazement. Not a hint of the fact that any one in the bank was short had reached them. Coleman had confessed it effectually. They conferred together and decided to accept the offer of Coleman's father to make good the loss.

The money was paid to the bank and then the father told Coleman he had learned a lesson and had barely escaped prison. In view, however, of his having seen the error of his ways they were going to be extremely magnanimous and give him his job back, and they did so.

It did not take Coleman long to forget his good intentions and proceed to do a thorough and skilful job of bank looting. The directors, however, were no more shrewd than they were before, and that is how he got away with it a second time.

William J. Kellher, better known as "Big Bill," charged by the United States authorities with aiding and abetting Coleman in separating the National City bank of Cambridge from some $309,000, is experiencing considerable difficulty in raising a bond of $25,000 to secure his release on bail from the Charles street jail.

New York, April 25.—Anna Held needs a rest and therefore left the stage Saturday night by way of Monticott street.

"After this week I shall be a plain woman," she said, with wide-eyed seriousness. "I need a rest; for fourteen years now I've been on the stage and I am tired. You see I have nerves. Paymaster Laurence G. Haughey of the U. S. S. He was reduced ten numbers in rank as punishment. His sentence was light because of restitution.

Down in the Mighty Deep

One of the heavy weight members of the crew of the flagship Yeast Cake, attached to the South End fleet, took an involuntary bath on the return trip from the yard on Saturday. It's a question as to what caused this unexpected dip. The deck hands say he used a vaulting pole in making the landing, others have it that the submersion was due to the unsteady hand of the navigating officer. Anyhow the crew's historian was on the job with the life line and his work was timely. The skipper has given orders that in the future his crew be equipped with aeroplane life belts for fancy jumping. Now come on with mefals.

Ship Will Have Small Crew

The U. S. S. Wisconsin will come here with less than half of her crew, just enough to bring her around to this station and put her out of commission. A big portion of the crew go to the Delaware, others to the receiving ships Hancock and Vabash, and several are discharged from the service.

A Good Man Joins the Silent Majority

In the death of James J. Jennison, chief master at arms of the Southern, the navy parts with a good man. In every capacity he has acted up to his commission as a petty officer. He was never found wanting and no man who made his acquaintance could help but like him.

He had over twenty years' service to his credit and merited his promotion by the record he established in the Spanish and Chinese wars.

In this city and Kittery where he was well known, extreme sorrow is manifested in his death, and the sympathy of a wide circle of shipmates and civilians goes out to his wife, the only survivor he leaves.

Pay Day For Ships and Band

The crews of the station ships Southern and Topeka and the U. S. S. Marfetta were paid today also the members of the marine band.

MILK CONTRACTORS DEFY PRODUCERS

Boston, April 25.—Boston milk contractors have thrown down the gauntlet to the milk producers. They declare that on May 1 the date of the threatened milk strike, consumers here will be getting their usual supply of milk at the usual summer rate. This, they say, will be in spite of the attempt of the farmers to hold-back the supply unless the contractors agree to pay higher prices than ever before for the summer. The contractors defy the farmers to enforce any strike.

"Milk at retail will be eight cents a quart in Boston, beginning next Sunday. The supply will be plentiful and of good quality," is the statement made by George Whiting, of D. Whiting and Sons, one of the big Boston contracting firms.

W. A. Graustein, president of the Boston Dairy company, makes the same declaration.

In reply to the officers of the Milk Producers company, the farmers' organization that is back of the strike movement declare that scores of farms all through New England will this week join the strike plan. They say that the producers in every New England state will refuse to ship milk into Boston unless their demand for winter rates is granted.
